“ I only knew Mac for the last three years of his life, but he always was very nice and friendly and he had a cute little sense of humor. He could not see very well, but I often wear a baseball cap and whenever I would say “Hello” to him he would say “Hello” back if I had my cap on. On the days I didn’t wear my cap he would always ask who it was when I greeted him, and when I told him he would say “ Oh, I didn’t recognize you without your cap!” It kind of got to be a little game with us. I will very much miss seeing him and send my condolences to Peggy and all of his family. He was a delightful man to know!

“ As a young child, Grandpa patiently sat in his chair as I covered his head in girly hair clips. As an adult, he always answered my phone calls with, “Hi, Babe”. I will cherish these memories.
