“ I met Raymond at Sullivan County Community College in 1996. He was one of my closest friends and housemate in our third semester. One of the things that stood out about Ray was, he could make you laugh. He was a great friend, I miss him. I met his mother one time at Sullivan and I knew right away from their interactions, Ray came from a great and loving home. God bless the Harris family and his fiance at that time as well.

Just spreading some love from a good friend of Raymond Harris,

“ Ray was such a wonderful, kind and considerate man. Unfortunately, that time that he spent with us was so very short. I know we all feel cheated, family, friends, and loved ones alike. We are now approaching one month since his death and at times it still feels like yesterday that we lost Ray. My heart aches for this terrible loss to Ray's parents, his sister, his fiance' and all of Ray's family & friends. All my thoughts & prayers are with you in the months that lie ahead. May God bless you and give you all that you need to make it through.

“ We never had a chance to meet, Ray, but if you were anything like your father, you had to be a fine gentleman. R.I.P.

“ If you could describe the perfect man. The best kind of man. You get Ray. He was my bestfriend, my lover, my hope and my happily ever after. I love him forever and always. My best memory is when we drove to New York. The entire 15 hour drive there was the longest worst drive ever after hour number 6. Ray was so anxious and excited to get to New York that he rushed the entire way there. If he had to go to the bathroom or was hungry we stopped, and very quickly. If I was hungry or had to use the bathroom it was frustrating to him to have to stop. I was so mad. I actually thought about just going home. He was being so snappy and mean. Right when we got over the bridge and seen the welcome to new york sign the song empire state of mind came on. Ray got so excited and started laughing and singing so loud that all I could do was laugh. I couldn't even be mad at him anymore. He had this way of making me feel complete happiness. I fell in love. I'll miss him always and carry him in my heart.

“ My cousin Patrick may be the nicest and easy going person whom you've ever meet. Not to mention, he's also very handsome and charming. You left here too soon. R.I.P. Love, your eldest cousin Sharon Matthews-Lewis
