“ I'm at loss for words. I am so sorry for the loss of this beloved young lady, my friend Stacie. I knew her since she was born and was good friends with her sister growing up and was lucky enough to gain a friendship with her the last few years through St. Michaels. To her loving husband and precious Children; Radamacher family & my friend Jamie: My sincerest apologies for your loss. My heart and prayers are with you all. Please let me know if you need anything at all. I will miss her dearly. I was blessed to have her as my friend. She always made me smile and her goodness radiated to all she surrounded herself with. She will not be forgotten.

“ Stacey and I share Feb. 17 as our birthday, and I have always loved sharing my special day with someone who lit up the room, loved her family fiercely and to the moon and back, and was a loyal, kind, encouraging friend. I will miss her dearly and am so sorry to her family and other loved ones who are grieving so deeply. We will be praying for you guys for the minutes, hours, days and months to come. To Stacey’s parents: she was so proud to be your daughter and loved you deeply. To Tim: she adored doing life with you and your beautiful children! We are all so deeply sorry for this heartbreaking loss to you, but I’m so glad you can take comfort that she’s with Jesus and you’ll see her and Allison again one day. Let us know how we can support you and the kids emotionally from North Carolina.

“ So many memories! But what is coming to mind right now is a conversation we had when we first met. Speaking of honey and how sweet the Lord is, sweeter than anything of the world. Of how much God loves Stacey. I remember the sweet look on her face as she received that truth from the Lord. How sad we are to lose you in this world Stacey, but how sure I am that we will meet again my friend...
